Fifty Families Bloom Again

BloomAgain recently hit a major milestone when we provided financial assistance to our 50th family. In just 4 years, BloomAgain has become a major resource for area women in need. Each year, we receive a greater number of requests and are proud to be able to maintain this pace of giving.

Linda Parrott: Grateful Grant Recipient

At the end of 2018, Linda Parrot had surgery to remove a large brain and orbital tumor. Linda, a bookkeeper, is a single mother of 3 and is caring for her elderly mother. In a heartfelt thank you card, Linda wrote, "You have allowed me to stay current on what needed to be paid and eliminated a bit of worry in the finance department. Words cannot describe how very thankful I feel."

Take a Class, Give a Class

Open Heart Yoga is being launched in Red Bank this month.

Founder and instructor, Mary Ansell, donates yoga classes to local not-for-profit organizations, like BloomAgain. Take a yoga class and mention BloomAgain - a women in need will receive a free yoga class in the future.

Better with Friends

In March, BloomAgain partnered with Rodan + Fields representative, Anita Condouris, for our charity's first ever "friendrasier." BloomAgain president, Christine Rieger, opened her home for a truly beautiful event. Women purchased R+F products to support BloomAgain. Twenty percent of all sales were given to our charity. Talk about going more than skin deep! Thank you, Anita Condouris, for your generosity and effort.
